

RINOL PAVIMENTA acquires high production laser screed

Rinol Pavimenta, a leading industrial flooring company in Peru, recently certified with ISO 9001-2008 by SGS, has made significant investments in equipment among which stands out the purchase of the S240 Laser Screed, guided entirely by laser precision.

This machine is unique in Peru, allowing the placement of 2000-2500 m² of pavement in a single day, thus increasing the production capacity of the company to 5000 m² per day.

With this acquisition the company will improve the level of productivity and quality in major industrial areas, being a major contribution to the construction of warehouses that require high-precision surveying in short intervals and offer customers great cost savings substantially eliminating the amount of construction joints.

Rinol Pavimenta expects that this acquisition will consolidate its position as main contractor for the industrial flooring sector at South America and expand into other countries in the region.